Medical and behavioral health providers: Join us to better serve Veterans and Military Service Members in your community!

Veterans face unique barriers to accessing medical and behavioral healthcare. Many providers, although highly skilled, are unfamiliar with Military culture and the unique needs of Veterans as they pertain to behavioral health, and more specifically, to suicidality.

Nationally, since 2010, more than 65,000 veterans have died by suicide. This is more than the number of deaths from combat during the Vietnam War, and operations in Iraq and Afghanistan combined.

Join us for a free two-day, virtual training with other providers and improve your familiarity with Veteran and Military needs around mental health and suicide.

We strongly encourage training participants to follow this training with the 2-hour Applied Skills Practice session on May 3.
